

In this exercise we use a TextView to display different code at runtime in response to a user pressing a Button.

